

The Late Riots in Dunfermline – The town has been in a state of great tranquillity since the 24th ultimo. The troop of cavalry that were brought to the town left on the morning of the Thursday following. The leaders of those who have endeavoured to expel the Irish colliers from the Town Hill, warrants for the apprehension of whom have been given by Bailie Johnston, are all in custody. Precognitions have, during the week, been taken by the Sheriff of the various parties committed – the navvies for the Saturday night's affair, the ringleaders of those engaged in the Monday's riot and the colliers from Town Hill. The poor man, Anderson, who was so seriously injured in the riot on Saturday night, we are glad to learn, is recovering, though slowly. He has so far recovered the use of his speech, that we understand it was proposed to have his precognition taken on Monday last. – Fifeshire Journal.

se on the order has
collected,
mings, all
Scotland,
er to the
onging to
s, and the
to be the
ined until
g the ex-
licitor for
his wife,
d in their
were sent Treasury.
view with
accounts,
ch Rentes
perty has
fontefore
man Bey,
an impe-

judges, will be the "New Queen's Hotel," George Square.

THE LATE RIOTS IN DUNFERMLINE.—The town has been in a state of great tranquillity since the 24th ultimo. The troop of cavalry that were brought to the town left on the morning of the Thursday following. The leaders of those who have endeavoured to expel the Irish colliers from the Town Hill, warrants for the apprehension of whom had been given by Bailie Johnston, are all in custody. Precognitions have, during the week, been taken by the Sheriff of the various parties committed—the navvies for the Saturday night's affair, the ringleaders of those engaged in the Monday's riot and the colliers from the Town Hill. The poor man, Anderson, who was so seriously injured in the riot on Saturday night, we are glad to learn, is recovering, though slowly. He has so far recovered the use of his speech, that we understand it was proposed to have his precognition taken on Monday last. —Fifeshire Journal.

WRECK OF THE ORION.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail writes from Fortpatrick on the 6th, as follows:—"The gale of Wednesday last has not